

Xceleration – A Case Study

Recent research into the role of recognition in employee performance has revealed that it plays a crucial role in their productivity. Companies with reward and recognition programs see a 63% increase in productivity. Their profit margins are higher by an almost similar percentage. Such companies are also more likely to retain their workers.

Employee reward programs go beyond financial incentives, simple pay bumps, and end-year bonuses. Human beings are more complex, and often we want to feel recognized beyond a couple of zeros on a cheque. This is where Xceleration comes in.

The company offers customized reward programs for companies across the US. They have a comprehensive catalog of incentives ranging from branded gear, trips, gift cards, and once-in-a-lifetime experiences. They approached plecco.net to help build an online platform for this service. They hoped to make the reward program more accessible for companies and increase its uptake.

Services

Staffing Frontend Consultants

Technology – React

How We Helped Xceleration

At PLECCO, we understand the importance of finding the right talent for the right job, especially in the ever-evolving technology landscape. This is why we are proud to have partnered with Xceleration, a leading technology firm, to provide them with front-end consultants versed in React. Our partnership has proven to be a successful one, as our team was able to support the development of new features for Xceleration's platform.

The team at PLECCO was tasked with providing Xceleration with top-notch front-end consultants who were skilled in React. React is a popular JavaScript library that is used to build user interfaces, and it is essential for developing web-based applications that are user-friendly and interactive. Our team was able to deliver on this requirement, providing Xceleration with front-end consultants who were not only knowledgeable in React but were also experienced in working on various web-based projects.

Working with Xceleration was a great opportunity for our team to showcase our strengths in staffing and project management. Throughout the project, we made sure that all resources were ready and prepared to support Xceleration's development efforts. Our team worked closely with Xceleration's technical leads to understand their requirements and provide the right resources at the right time. We also provided ongoing support throughout the project to ensure that everything was running smoothly.

The project was a success, and Xceleration was impressed with the quality of the work that was delivered. The new features that were developed were well-received by the end-users, and Xceleration was able to meet their goals and deadlines. This was a testament to the quality of the consultants that we provided, as well as our ability to manage projects effectively.

Code on a laptop screen

Results

In conclusion, our partnership with Xceleration has been a great success, and we are proud to have played a role in their success. Our team was able to provide Xceleration with the right resources at the right time, and we were able to support the development of new features for their platform. We look forward to continuing our partnership with Xceleration and helping them achieve their technology goals.

If you are looking for a staffing partner who can help you find the right talent for the right job, look no further than PLECCO. We have a proven track record of providing high-quality resources to our clients, and we are committed to helping you achieve your technology goals. Contact us today to learn more about our services and how we can help you.

0